Comments:

When the Family Heritage Agent first stopped, my husband and I looked at each other and said "another salesman!" But Howard – who usually disappears when salesmen would come by – listened to everything this Family Heritage guy had to say. He signed up on the spot and even gave the sales guy our banking information, which was totally out of character for him. The next morning I called the Family Heritage phone number – really just to make sure this company and this sales guy that appeared out of nowhere - were for real. Every month when the money was taken out of the bank account, I told my husband, "you just spent your beer budget"! I never understood why he signed up for this insurance in the 1st place. But God must have been watching out for us. Fourteen months later, in Nov, 2013, I was diagnosed with cancer – breast and vocal cord cancer. I had 3 surgeries in less than 2 months – then 33 double radiation treatments. I couldn't work – I couldn't even talk! I'm a tax preparer, so when I couldn't work during part of the tax season, that really hurt me financially. I loved that I was getting paid daily for having treatment. When you can't work, you still have utilities, you still have house payments, you still need food. Thanks to Family Heritage we could still cover the necessities. That made up my lost wages and covered a lot of bills. I went back to work in February. Then just 4 months later, on July 29th, Howard was diagnosed. He battled it for 8 months. When you stop and look at it, Family Heritage is a win-win situation. This insurance has been so helpful for us. And if you don't use it, you get your premiums back. So what do you have to lose? It's a no-brainer. I didn't think that the night the original agent came by – but good thing my husband did!
